

What to bring for a stay at Falling Star Ranch

No need to dress up at Falling Star Ranch! You'll be working outside a lot, so make sure you bring practical, comfortable clothing and footwear.

The most important thing to consider when packing for a stay at Falling Star Ranch is to come prepared for a variety of weather, as the mountains are known for changeable conditions. In the summer, expect warm days and cool nights. In the winter, bring clothing with an emphasis on layering to handle changes in the weather. Temperatures can range from 40° C in the summer (rare) to minus 40° C in the wintertime (also rare). The Robson Valley is near an inland (temperate) rainforest, so rain and high humidity are common.

Suggested list of items to bring

Jeans

Riding pants (jodhpurs or breeches)

Waterproof rain gear (slickers and rain pants)

Windbreaker/parka

Fleece jacket or fleece sweater

Sweatshirt (hoodies are great)

T-shirts

Long underwear, top and bottom, and turtle neck for the colder months

Wool or other non-cotton socks for colder days

Rubber boots (we have some extra pairs; please check with us for sizes)

Riding helmet (please bring your own helmet if possible)

Riding gloves

Chaps

Hiking boots or other traction footwear

Riding boots/cowboy boots (with heel)

Paddock boots

Slippers

Swimsuit

Sunglasses

Baseball cap or broad rim hat (cowboy hats work great)

Personal items, toiletries

Prescription medications

Sunscreen and insect repellent

Lip balm and moisturizer

Camera, batteries

Notebook and pens

Binoculars

Pocket knife/Leatherman

Towels and bedding are provided